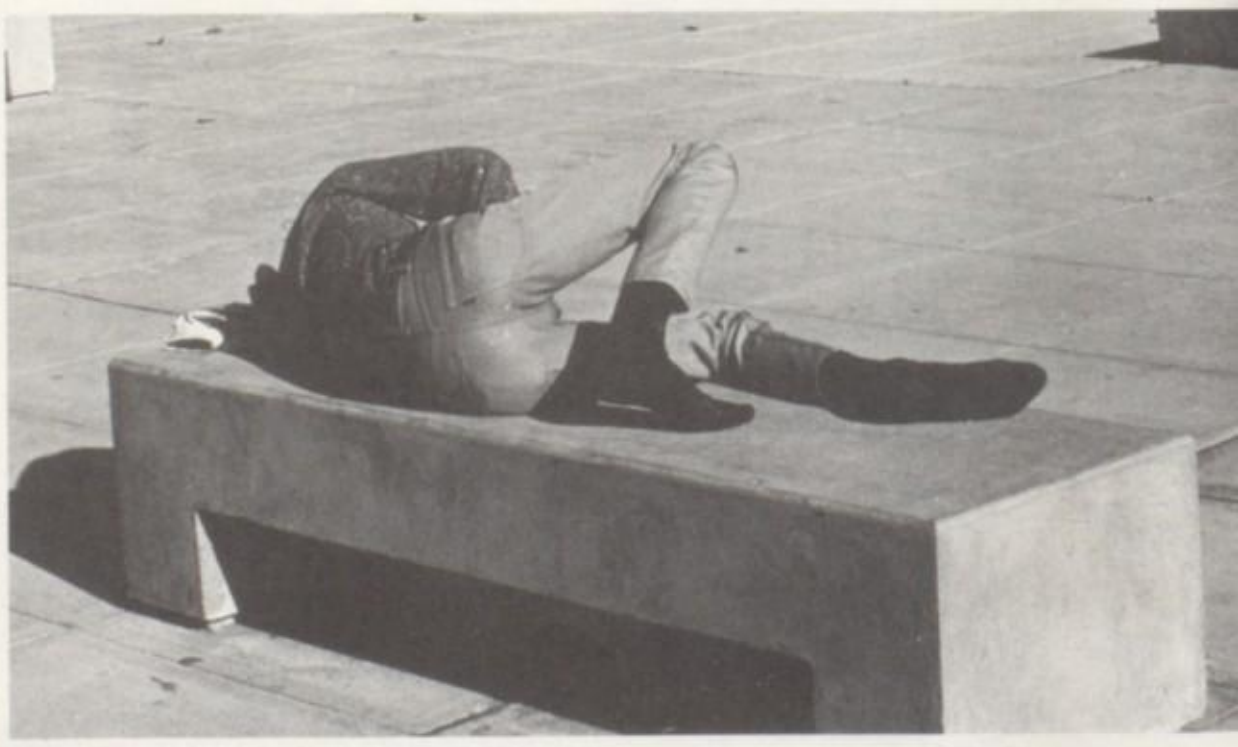
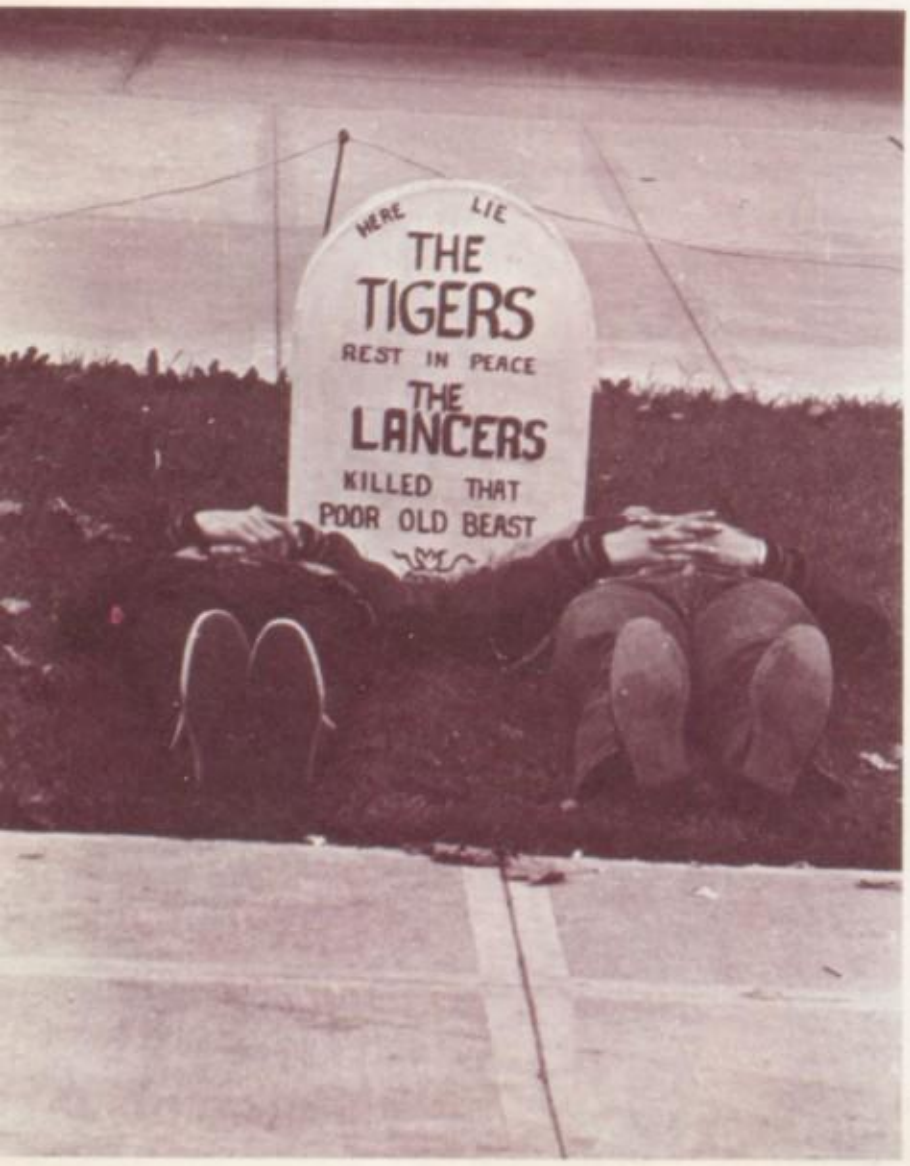
Time it was,
And what a time it was;
It was . . .

A time of innocence;



A time of confidences.

A flag ceremony sets the stage for Loyalty Week Activities.



With a new school, comes a new art—float making.

Torchlight procession boosts morale.

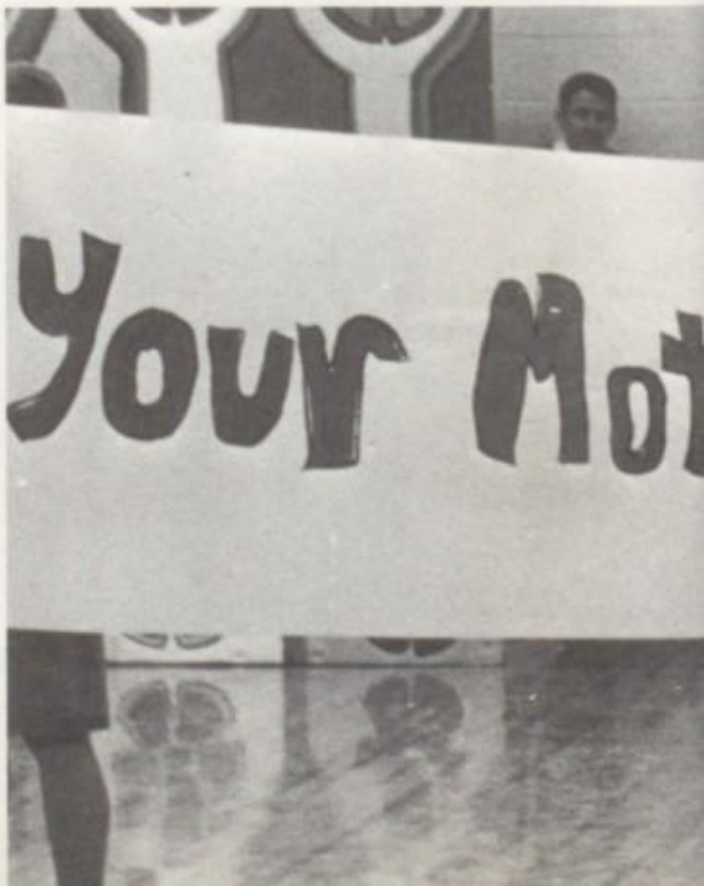
Occasionally energy seems boundless.

Seniors capture crowds with their Loyalty skit.

Saloon doors swung when the freshman came on.

Through the book of history stepped another winner.

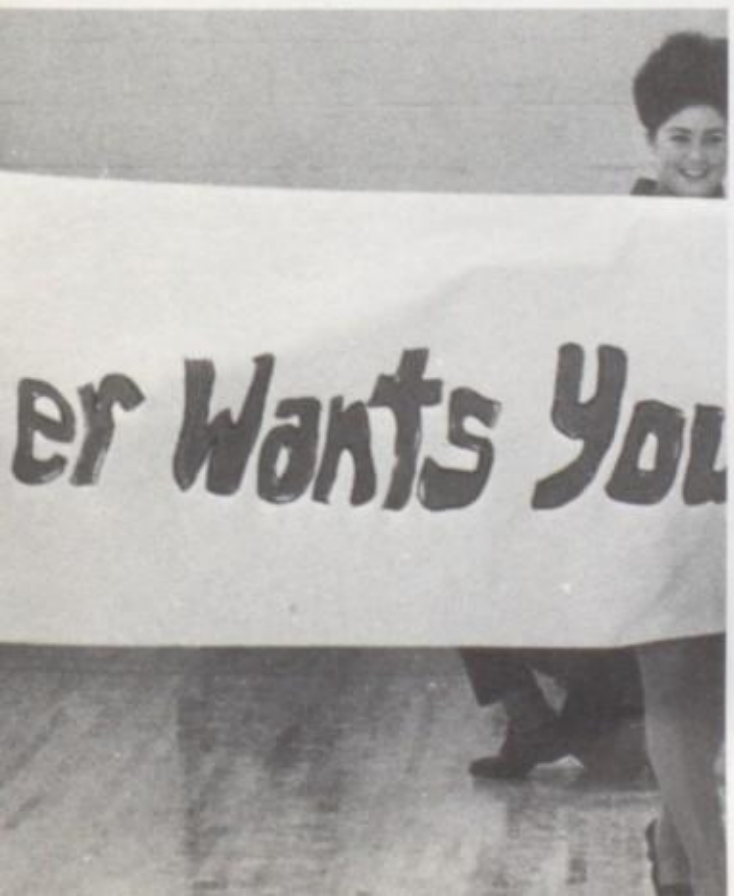
Another joke from the faculty's "Laugh-in!"



Sophomores fight their way through it.

Juniors earnestly apply for the Olympics.

Mike accepts the trophy for the Class of '69.



Dashing feminity proves a blessing for the seniors.

And we were one . . .

Ken Abbey

And a fire was lit. And it grew

Reaching upwards. And

Its light grew bright.

And we were warm.

And a circle formed around our

Light. And for the first time a

Brother extended his hand,

Not just to his brother, but

To anybody's brother. And the Flames reached higher and

Converged at their zenith.

While my guitar gently weeps . . .

Boy's Ensemble:

George Hoover, Mike Miller, Ken Stuckel, Charles Woodford, John Page, Warren DeBoe, Tom Fuchs, Chuck Williams, Lucy Becker (Acc.).

A tender thought of youth so warmly grown.

To the rhythm of an endless beat.

A crowd of people stood and stared;
they'd seen his face before.

Quiet.

(So you can hear of THE LANCER THAT ROARED.)

Once upon a time, in the land of Southwest Illinois, there lived a three year old orphan named Lancer. He was spurned by the powers that be and tolerated as a necessary evil. Raggedy and forlorn the poor Lancer began to think how this problem of recognition could be solved. The Lancer was tired of the assumption that he would always be treated as an orphan . . . so he traveled to the land of Cahokia and put an end to that Assumption 64 to 60. Suddenly standing in the way was a mass of mighty Crusaders who had twice before in recent times pushed aside this bedraggled Lancer. The third stanza of the war staged also in the land of Cahokia and the Crusades were ended 69 to 56. Eyes all over the land turned to this upstart orphan Lancer and said, "be done with you in your journey into the Tigers den in the land of Edwardsville." Thousands of disbelievers watched the battle rage on . . . when the dust had cleared the Tiger had succumbed 58 to 53 and the three year old Lancer now dreamed of going to college in the land of Charleston and Eastern Illinois University but another powerful opponent from the land of Hillsboro blocked the path. The Lancer's strong will and courage prevailed again 62 to 57 and the dream was now underway. Now with fame but with more fortune lying ahead, the Lancer charged into the realm of higher education in the land of Charleston and found a most worthy classmate from the province of Mattoon. Again thousands of now believers watched the Lancer emerge from the throws of defeat to the circle of victory 47 to 45. An even higher education now awaits this one time orphan. The Lancer carries his caravan into the land of the assembly hall in the country of Champaign to seek further accolades. Let it be known throughout the land, the Lancer is no longer an orphan, but a king . . . and shall forever be known as the Lancer that roared. This is already a happy story, but the ending has yet to be written. Onward you Lancer, you king of courage and pride . . . you're the Lancer that has and will continue to Roar!
